The Turners of Three States.

The Tri-State Turn-Band, which held its annual business meeting at Bellaire on Sunday, had a grand picnic on the State Fair forounds yesterday. The Turners of this city, with colors ilying and headed by the Opera House band, marched through the principal streets early in the morning and then embarked on the Prince for Bellaire. After a parade there, which is referred to in the Bellaire Hens, the societies re-embarked for the Island on the Prince and Princess, which hoats also made regular trips from Bellaire to the Island all day. A large crowd was on the grounds, partof it being composed of Turners from Bellaire, Steubenville and East Liverpool in Ohlo, and Beaver Falls, Allegheny Birmingham, South Bide, Pittsburgh, Central Pittsburgh, McKeasport and Johnstown, Pa., besides those of this city. Some fine turning was among the attractions on the programme, and a general good time was had by all present. Had the weather been less threatening there would have been a crowd present which would have made it impossible for all to have such an enjoyable time. The order was good, the only occurrence to mar the occasion being the disorderly conduct of two abandoned women of this city. They were arrested.

Last evening the Turners returned to Hellaire, where the new hall of the local society was dedicated. Herr Geshiedter, editor of the Steubenville Germania, was the orator The Turners of Three States.

ROFUSELY POURED AT A PICNIC

Wheeling Roughs take Possession of the Grounds and langurate a Reign of Terror-An Officer Used up.

A disgraceful affair occurred out at Seibert ar.'en yesterday. A penceful and order'; party of German citizens, with their fam lies, had gathered there to enj y the day when the place was invaded by a gang o well-known roughs of East Wheeling, who are not punished with the severest pennity of the law.

A special officer is employed by Mr. Seibert to preserve order at the garden. Matt Pearl has been filling this not very enviable position, though he has once by twice in the past been pretty roughly handled by seme of the lawless characters who occasionally intest the place. He will probably lie off now, at least for a time, as he was more severely injured yesterdsy than on any of the former occasions.

There were several trivial encounters yeserdey which attracted little attention, before the first serious row occurred about five yelock. How this was started cannot be learly learned, but Pearl undertaking to retore order was set upon by three or four of the oftenders and badly hurt. His right arm store order was set upon by three or four of the offenders and bedily hurt. His right arm was broken in two places, once near the shoulder and one on the forearm, his nose was mashed and the bones broken, and his head was pounded and out cruelly. He bled freely. A bHalpin, a man named Orannoton, better known as "Knocker Shelly," and Wee Marshall were implicated in this row, and which was most to blame will only be developed by an offi hai investigation.

Pearl being disabled, Contable Lauchlin was atmoned from the city to quell the rising disorder. Before he reached the Garden, however, another difficulty had arisen, in which the three men above named were the worst sufferers. Shelly and Halpin were basten seriously, and Marshall only saved his skin whole by making good time out of the grounds. Fete Grass, who lives on Seventeenth street, had his jaw broken and was otherwise stove up in one of these fichts, and a resident of East. Wheeling, had his head brilsed and out hadly. Grass was not at all to blame. He was attempting (o restore or rider when he was hit with a heavy plank and knicked down, and then kicked on the side of the head. Halpin was badly out by a beer glass. Shelly was struck with an ivory pool bail and also with the butt end of a heavy billiard one. It is feared that he is fatally injured.

TWO OTHER BATTLES.

A number of minor difficulties, which were prevented from assuming serious proportions, followed these affairs, but no general engage ent was indujed in till after the party left the park. At the motors of the Em Grove railway some of these who had taken part in the former fights again met, and hostilities were recewed. Tim Donovan got the worst of it this time, being bruised and beaten considerably.

When the motors reached the terminus of their line, and while the passengers were transferring to the horse cars for the city, another war occurred. Rich Donovan, a brother of Tim's, drew a revolver and demanded that everybody throw up his hands. Instead of doing so, apparently everybody struck at the man he could hit the esalest. Constable Lauchlin came in for a share of the racket this time, being struck three stinging blows, the last of which knocked him to the ground, and he fell under one of the horses. This was rather a delicate situation, but "Curly" managed to extricuate inmelf without having his brains tramped out by the hoofs. One of the street car drivers, Ab. Clatterbach, was shot through the hand by Donovan's revolver while engaged in trying to assist in quelling the riot. Donovan was also shot in the leg, it is supposed by the accident all discharge of his own revolver.

These brief outlines of the affairs do no convey any idea of the exclement which characterized each. A large crawd of miss some crying 'Pair bay!" and other "Part them!" gathered at once, while women and children crying and screaming "Murdel!" ran from the locality. There was a regular reign of terror for several hours and the scene beggars description. Those who were fighting could not tell in the ex and the seens beggars description. Those who were fighting could not tell in the excitement which were firends and which foes, and blows were struck indiscriminately. A would-be peacemaker was as likely to be knocked out his first round as anything, and the greatest wonder is that more men were rot earlough burt.

the greatest wonder is that more men wer not seriously hurt.

It has been a long time since such a dis graceful and lawless proceeding was wit nessed in this vicitity, and the authoritie abould "let no guilty man escape." Mr. Set bert is not to blame, and was much worries Word was received at this office last nigh about 11 o'clock, to the effect that a cuttin affray had occurred in West Wheeling about 1 afray nadocutres in that was out was said to be a mill man named Joseph Brater, and and the assailant was William Silvey a painter. The difficulty took place is the and the assailant was William Sivey, a painter. The difficulty took place in the street in front of the nouse occupied by both. Silvey, after the cutting, took a skiff and came to this city. It was said that some of Braten's friends were to follow him and endeavor to procure his arrest, but up to one o'clock nothing had been heard of the trouble at police headquarters. Braten, it was said, was badly used up about its head. The encounter was the culmination of a feat of several weeks' standing. Up to the hour of going to press no further particulars than those given above had been learned.

The B. & O. railroad has neglected building a new depot at Clayaville utill the reputation and trade of the road is being in jured by it. There seems to be a general opinion here that the county-seat question had better be laid aside this year; but backof this is the fear that St. Clairwille will get in a member of the legislature in favor of building a new court house on the present site and a commissioner of the same stripe. At Saturday's primaries a rumor was started that one of the delegates was not a sialwart on the question of removal, and therefore he will be frequently exactless.
